CALL for PAPERS

International Conference on Corporate Governance in Emerging Markets Special Session on Turkey Istanbul, 15 November 2007 Sabanci University

The conference will bring together researchers investigating the impact of corporate governance on emerging markets' firms performance and economic development in general, and the roles of legal, economic and political institutions in determining corporate governance systems. The conference aims to facilitate dissemination of state of the art research on corporate governance in emerging markets, with the objective of supporting policy and practice development. To this end, the conference will provide a forum to discuss the ongoing research on corporate governance in emerging markets and to solicit ideas from both theory and policy perspectives as to how to further improve corporate governance research. The conference will also provide an opportunity to inquire how academic research findings relate to practice in emerging markets by having leading practitioners as discussants.

For details please visit www.gcgf.org

There will be two special sessions on Corporate Governance in Turkey on the 15th of November. We welcome papers from a variety of disciplines such as sociology, organizational science, law and management. Both theoretical and empirical papers, as well as clinical studies, are welcome. Researchers from Anatolian universities are strongly encouraged. Papers in Turkish can also be submitted.
